One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

A glance at the nameplate of this newspaper will indicate our impending centennial. No one knows for sure how old the Sierra Sun really is, but it is generally considered to have originated somewhere around 1869.

Doug Barrett of Sacramento, who probably knows as much of our early history as anyone and supplies us with our weekly 50-year-old news which he gleans from old files in the state library, says 1869 is probably the least likely year of origin and that the paper was actually started a year later – or was it a year earlier?

Reference is made to a Truckee Tribune, formerly the Dutch Flat Enquirer, published by N. W. Ferguson in 1869, but other sources say it started in 1868. Anyway, the plant and materials were allegedly removed in 1870 to Fresno – not a particularly happy fate.

Barrett credits our "true" ancestor as being the Meadow Lake Sun which commenced publication in that mountain community 14 miles north of Donner Summit in June of 1866. When the name Sierra Sun was appended to the title Truckee Republican in 1935 by publisher Stanley Bavier, it was in honor of that ancient predecessor.

Incidentally, the original weekly Sun sold for $6 per year in 1866. I bring this up only to pacify those present subscribers who expressed shock and indignation last fall when we advanced our yearly subscription rate from $3 to $4.

A Grass Valley Republican was published in that community in 1871, and in 1872 was moved to Truckee and became the Truckee Republican.

The Republican has survived, says Barrett, as a direct successor to an honorable descendent of the Dutch Flat Enquirer, the Truckee Tribune, the Meadow Lake Sun, and the Grass Valley Republican, and is known today generally as the Sierra Sun. I still get mail addressed to the Truckee Republican, a lot of it addressed to Walter M. Barrett, the Sun's publisher for over 30 years, and I half expect some day to receive tardy post, money owing, directed to C. F. McGlashan.

At least four publishers of this paper have served in the state legislature. At least two publishers of this paper have been shot to death. A brief appraisal of available records fails to disclose if any single publisher earned a place in both of these distinguished categories.

And so we enter our "centennial" year with some doubt and trepidation. Are we 103 years old, or merely 97? Perhaps 100 is a fair compromise. Whichever it is, such longevity is not too bad for the bastard son of itinerant printers.

We have arbitrarily set our birthday to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the completion of the transcontinental railroad. Governor Leland Stanford drove the golden spike at Promontory, Utah, on May 10, 1869, to join the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroads, and that's good enough for us.

Our issue of Wednesday, May 7, in this year of 1969, will be our centennial edition, and perhaps we and the railroad can wish each other well – and maybe have a little taste of the grape and sit in a couple of rocking chairs out on the front stoop and tell lies about the old days. We can toast Stanford and Huntington, Ferguson and McGlashan, and all the rest of them in the sure knowledge that just as they are no longer with us at this anniversary, then at the next centennial there won't even be any railroads or newpapers.

Or rocking chairs, or booze, or front stoops either, for that matter. Sic transit gloria. (My sister gets ill on streetcars).

Beauty And Charm On Display In Annual Beauty Pageant

By Ellen Attardi

The eighth annual Sno Ball of the North Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce will take place on Friday, January 17 at the Nevada Lodge and, according to chamber president Ben Damanchki, the affair will be the best one ever.

Famed skier and instructor Hannes Schroll has been signed to act as master of ceremonies and fourteen lovely young ladies will be vieing for the title of Miss Sierra Snowflake. All the contestants are being sponsored by local civic organizations and businesses.

Schroll is perhaps best known for his winning of the famed Marmolata Race in Italy when he established the record time of 2 minutes and 29 seconds for the difficult 3 mile course. He is a native of Kitzbuehl, Austria, and after coming to this country he was head of the Ski School at Yosemite and then, with the late Walt Disney, established the ski resort at Sugar Bowl. Schroll, now retired from active participation in ski activities, owns and operates the famed 101 Ranch near Hollister.

The Snowflake candidates and their sponsors are: Diane Rose, Truckee Lions; Linda Dwyer, Soroptimists; Debbie King, Incline Village Realty; Sue Hawkins, Tahoe Sierra Board of Realtors; Pam Bradley, North Tahoe Rotary; Liz Swain, North Tahoe Lions; Leslie McBride, Tahoe City Rotary; Cynthia Fox, Tahoe Squaws; April Garman, North Tahoe Women's Club; Shelley Wilson, co-sponsored by the Tahoe Junior Women's Club and Agate Bay Realty; Judi Birmingham, Restaurant Association; Karen Mally, Incline Village, Inc.; Debbie Sayre, Incline Title Insurance; and Mae Kindred, Crystal Bay Club.

Ticket and reservation chairman Dottie Intorf has announced that the Ball is open to the public and reservations may be made by mailing to Sno Ball Reservations, Box 794, Tahoe City, or by telephoning 583-4631. Tickets are $6 per person and include a lavish buffet dinner. Seating will be in order of receipt of reservation. While all members of sponsoring organizations are encouraged to attend, sponsor tables at ringside will be limited to ten persons.

Intermission entertainment will be provided by Steve Rose and Lyle Radtke, alias the "Little Rose and His Flower Child," while the judges for the Snowflake Contest will be Maxine Andrews, former entertainer and now Dean of Women at Paradise College; Judd Allen, general manager of the Reno Chamber of Commerce; Placer County Supervisor Ray Thompson; Dr. Alvin Marks, president of Skymark Airlines; and Leon Nightingale of Reno.

Truckee Ambulance Service And Local Hotel Change Hands

New owners have taken over operation of two Truckee businesses this month as the Truckee Ambulance Service and the historic Alpine Riverside Hotel changed hands.

The latest changes in ownership add to earlier Lake Tahoe transactions in which three other historic properties are involved. Chambers Lodge has been sold and sales of Meeks Bay Resort and Brockway Hotel are reportedly nearing completion.

Ted Hansen, x-ray technician at Tahoe Forest Hospital, and his father-in-law, Jerry Fitzsimmons, are new owners of the Truckee Ambulance Service which will be known hereafter as Donner Ambulance Service. The new management took over operation of the service the first of January.

Fitzsimmons, who was formerly in finance in the Bay Area, said the three ambulances and all pertinent emergency equipment will be housed temporarily at the Hansen residence at Rocky Lane and Meadow Way in Donner Trails Estates. Future plans call for a building devoted solely to ambulances and equipment.

The new owners are both qualified in first aid. They will man the ambulances with oldtimers Jack DeRyk, Sky Miles and Joe Aguera as additional personnel. The emergency telephone number for ambulance service remains 587-3541.

Fitzsimmons and his wife, Phyllis, will make their home in Truckee where Mrs. Fitzsimmons hopes to go into the real estate business. Hansen's wife, Judy is a school teacher at Truckee Elementary School.

It's another family project with the new owners at Alpine Riverside Hotel which was originially built in the early 1880's.

Brothers-in-law and sisters, Bjarne and Stella Nylund and Frank and Angelina Urban offically took over the hotel on Dec. 26. Pruchase price was $106,000 for the 60-room hotel, restaurant and bar facility.

"We were looking around for a business we could get into together and someplace where we'd get out of the smog and traffic of Los Angeles," says Urban, former owner of a beauty shop in the San Fernando Valley.

"We were up here fishing and went in for one of the Alpine's steak dinners and the place interested us. So we contacted former owners Jack and Michael Ellis and that was the beginning."

Urban and Nylund say they are planning no major changes at the moment, just clean-up, painting and maintenance "until we get our feet on the ground."

Both expressed gratitude to the Ellis's for continued help in "trying to teach us everything about the hotel business."

The Urbans hail from Poland originally and have been in the United States for the last 10 years. Urban has spent 20 years in the beauty shop business.

Nylund, his wife, and children, Pamela and Eric have been in the States from Sweden since 1961. He has been in the heavy equipment business in the Los Angeles area and has brought his equipment with him intending to work it during spring and summer building season.

Both families are active in the management and operation of the hotel and restaurant while still retaining the long-time help. Jim still presides at the bar.

"It's going to take us some time," says Nylund. "In a project like this, you have to be plumber, painter, carpenter, electrician and everything else. We're both handy that way."

Jail Term For Ex-Banker

Michael A. Gregor, former Tahoe City bank official, has been ordered to jail for six months by U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas J. MacBride for falsifying bank records.

Gregor, who was assistant manager of the Bank of California branch in Tahoe City, was accused of tampering with bank records to obtain $1,000 last July 3.

In imposing sentence, Judge MacBride suspended the balance of a three-year prison term, ordered Gregor on probation for five years and also ordered he make restitution for the funds.

Girl Found Dead In Norden Lodge

Coroner's deputies are investigating the death of Germain T. Cliff, 18, of San Rafael, whose body was found in the room of a lodge last week at Norden, on Donner Summit.

Deputy Curt Landry said Miss Germain, a guest of a son of the lodge owner, was discovered dead in bed in the building after she came to the area for a skiing vacation. He said the young woman was last seen at 11:30 p.m. Monday. Windows were closed and an oil heater was operating in the room when the body was found.

Landry said preliminary examination indicated she was asphyxiated.

Boy Found By Truckee Pilot, Then Rescued By Helicopter

A 16–year–old Carmichael boy, Robert Izbapski, who spent the night in sub–zero weather after becoming lost on a skiing trip near Sugar Bowl on Donner Summit, was rescued Sunday morning a week ago after a dramatic search by scores of volunteers.

The rescue was accomplished when Leon Brinkley, flying instructor for the Truckee Airport Service at the Truckee – Tahoe Airport, spotted fresh ski tracks in the snow five miles south of Crows Nest Peak, ten miles from any recognized ski area. As the plane approached overhead, the boy, an experienced skier but unfamiliar with the territory, emerged from a grove of trees and waved at the pilot.

Unable to contact a nearby helicopter, also in the search, Brinkley maneuvered the plane over the boy until the helicopter arrived and as Brinkley left the scene he saw the boy being picked up, apparently none the worse for the experience, aside from the cold and exhaustion.

The boy was missed at 2 p.m. Saturday after he and other youths, accompanied by William Cox of Carmichael, completed their outing at Sugar Bowl and prepared to return home. He was found at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Scores of rescuers, including the Sierra Rescue Squad of Truckee, ski patrols and the civil air patrol, were summoned by Deputy Sheriff Stone of the Truckee substation, and entered in the search. The terrain south of the Sugar Bowl is extremely rugged and the boy is fortunate to have been found in time to save his life.

Peace Corps Test In Reno January 18

Greater North Lake Tahoe area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, January 18, at Room 202, Main Post Office, in Reno.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non–competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525.

Fifteen thousand volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self–help projects ranging from food production to health to education. More volunteers are needed for programs which will begin this spring and summer.

We had a major fire the other night when a Truckee landmark was flattened and other structures in the neighborhood were seriously threatened.

It was 2:30 a.m., the temperature was near zero, the coldest west wind was blowing snow and there were 40 inches of fresh snow on the ground. Really not a fit night for man or beast. But there were men out – members of the Truckee–Donner Volunteer Fire Department. As always, these men responded to the alarm and for hours, despite the freezing weather, cold and wet, they battled the blaze, preventing its spread to other homes and without complaint.

The firemen are not paid for their efforts. It is a civic project and a job that must be done and this community is very fortunate in having men of this calibre, willing to risk their health and even their lives to protect their neighbor's property.

The one most notable thing about the department is the speed with which they respond. It is a fact that the first few minutes of a fire determines its ability to resist the fight to extinguish it. In most cases if a fire is reported when it should be, the firemen are on the job in minutes and usually have control before it becomes uncontrollable.

We know of no paid department which can top the Truckee–Donner volunteers in getting to a fire and none which can do better in keeping it under control after arriving.

This week's bouquet goes to the men of the department for an excellent job in all kinds of conditions.

Single Tax Unit Sought

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R–San Rafael, proposed today creation of a single agency to handle all tax collection functions of the state.

The idea, identical to one proposed by Gov. Reagan, would establish a Department of Revenue to take over tax collection activities of the State Franchise Tax Board, the Board of Equalization and the state controller's office.

In introducing the bill, Bagley said state experts had estimated such a system would "save the taxpayers several million dollars annually."

Means Sought For Fair Division Of Truckee River Water Flow

A group of advisers later this month will search for means of protecting the Truckee Carson Irrigation District from being shorted a portion of its 406,000-acre-foot water allocation.

Federal Watermaster Claude Dukes agreed last week to call an advisory committee together to hear TCID complaints. He is chairman of the committee which advises a special interior committee charged with finding ways of getting more Truckee River water into Pyramid Lake at the natural terminus of the stream.

The Truckee supplements flows of the Carson River into Lahontan Reservoir which stores water for distribution by TCID to farmers and ranchers in the Fallon area.

Spokesmen for the irrigation district protested both to Carson City officials of the Bureau of Reclamation and to Dukes that TCID could lose about 40,000 acre-feet of water because it has been denied the right to divert Truckee River Water to Lahontan since the last 10 days in December.

This becomes significant in terms of percentage. TCID fears it stands to lose 10 per cent of its entire allocation for the year, while the 40,000 acre-feet expected to go to Pyramid by the end of this month amounts to roughly four inches on the desert lake's surface.

The loss would occur if winter storms in the Sierra fall well below normal for the rest of the season as they did three years ago.

Meeting with H. Smith Richards, Carson City office projects manager for the Bureau of Reclamation, TCID manager James Wood protested, "I don't think you can guarantee our 406 (thousand acre-feet) and turn water down the creek (to Pyramid). We'd like to get ours now when it's available and then if there is a surplus later it can go to Pyramid."

Richards replied if the early heavy winter persists and TCID continued to divert from the Truckee, water could be wasted in the Carson sink because the runoff would come down the Carson and there would be no other place to put it.

Admitting this was a possibility, TCID Watermaster Harold Soule reminded Richards nobody "will make a firm Carson flow forecast until after March 1." He said if Carson runoff is below normal, Truckee water bypassed to Pyramid would be lost and the district would be shorted.

"This should be a two-way street," Wood said. "If you can kick us off (the Truckee) at any time, we should be able to come back on any time." This was a reference to interior committee operating criteria which denies TCID Truckee water when a certain amount of precipitation has been measured at Tahoe City and when so much water is in storage at Lahontan.

Accumulated precipitation near the Lake Tahoe outlet gates at the first of the year measures 14.06 inches, which prevents TCID from taking Truckee water at least through January. If it had been less than 14 inches, the irrigation districts could have diverted to Lahontan.

"We want a little better break (in the criteria) earlier in the year," Wood continued. "It's a little too early in the year to be this severe. If we have the same type year as 1965-66, we'll go dry," he protested.

Wood said he felt the district should be allowed to carry over more water in Lahontan from year to year, or the criteria should be examined more often – perhaps every 10 days or two weeks in the early part of the winter.

Richards, who reminded Wood and Soule the operating criteria is still in the formulative stage, urged them to seek a meeting of the advisory committee, which could in turn relay their protest to the interior committee.

Dukes agreed TCID has a legitimate problem and agreed to call the meeting.

Tahoe City Native Retires After 38 Years

Highway Foreman Joseph M. Swartz of Nevada City is retiring after 38 years in road maintenance with the California Division of Highways.

During most of his career he has worked on highways in and around the Auburn – Colfax-Grass Valley area, plowing snow in winter, patching and repairing roadbeds in summer.

Born in Tahoe City, Swartz began state highway work in Placerville in 1930 and within a five-year period had worked his way north to Coloma, then Auburn, Colfax and finally Nevada City.

He's had wide experience in techniques of road upkeep beginning on the business end of the most versatile of all pieces of maintenance equipment — the shovel.

Later on he became proficient in handling trucks, graders and snow plows.

The winter night shift has been one of Swartz' prime responsibilities as highway foreman and he has supervised snow removal for many years on Highways 49, 174 and on Route 20 between Grass Valley and Emigrant Gap.

Taking his first highway job as a laborer, Swartz has been promoted four times during the course of nearly two score years with the state.

He has been repeatedly commended for outstanding accomplishment on the job and particularly for his handling of emergency situations. Recently he and his crew were presented a safety award for 15 consecutive years without time lost on the job due to accident.

The retiring foreman and his wife, Vivian, live at 734 Zion Street, Nevada City. They have two children, Mrs. Judith Gideon of San Jose and Mrs. Mary Jo Jordan of Grass Valley.

His retirement plans, he says, are indefinite.

Set Tour Of Proposed Yuba Gap Snow Area

A tour of the proposed Yuba Gap Snow Play Area for interested bidders will be conducted on January 16, U.S. Forest Service and Pacific Gas and Electric officials announced last week. Interested parties will meet on the site at 10 a.m. In the event of a storm, parties are encouraged to meet at the Big Bend Ranger Station, six miles east of the site on Interstate 80, to discuss the proposal.

The Yuba Gap Snow Play Area is located 75 miles east of Sacramento on Highway Interstate 80. The site lies just to the south of the freeway and can be reached by the Yuba Gap offramp. The area is located on Pacific Gas and Electric and Tahoe National Forest Lands.

The Yuba Gap area offers an excellent opportunity for development of a snow play area. Minimum development includes toboggan runs, a day lodge, saucer hill, snow play area, rental equipment, snow course for small over-snow type vehicles, parking for 150 cars and five buses, and water and sewer systems. Optional items include a beginner's ski hill, ice skating rink and installation of a lighting system for night use. In addition, adjacent P.G.&E. land is available for overnight lodging, service station facilities, restaurant, store and horse corral.

Estimated cost for the minimum development is $125,000. Bids will be accepted by the Forest Supervisor of the Tahoe National Forest at Nevada City, California 95959 until 2:00 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, March 3, 1969. The bids will then be publically opened.

Officials noted that development of safe facilities for snow play activities is needed. Since the completion of the Interstate 80 freeway, increasing numbers of people are looking for an area which affords an opportunity to play in the snow they said.

For more information, including copies of the Invitation to Bid, interested parties are encouraged to contract the District Ranger, U.S. Forest Service, Soda Springs, California 95728 (telephone 916-426-3609) or the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Division Land Supervisor, W. E. Marshall, 333 Sacramento Street, Auburn, California 95603.

Besides her daughter in Truckee, she is survived by two sons, James N. Jeppeson of Diggs and Curtis P. Jeppeson of Idaho Falls and a sister, Mrs. Florence Ford.

During the trip, Mrs. Longo was stricken with the flu and has been confined to her home.

Sierra Skiing

By VI and CARSON WHITE

Another year, another ski season beginning with thousands using well groomed slopes over the Christmas and New Year vacation period. Capacity crowds caused bumper-to-bumper traffic in and out of ski areas each day and lift lines were long on some runs, but snow conditions were excellent and by Sunday the warmer weather even produced spring skiing on corn snow on the sunny slopes. Approximately 100,000 skiers were up.

Squaw Valley's new Cable Car that lifts 120 people up to higher skiing areas will be officially dedicated next Saturday at 5 p.m. with a christening ceremoney.

Northern California and Nevada Wintersports Writers will be on hand for the festivities and the following day will conduct a race for A and B competitors on KT 22. The course will be the 1960 Olympic giant slalom run.

All officials are members of the press and results are tabulated within minutes of the finish of each race, a ski writers dream. Other innovations include advising participants of their unofficial times and gatekeepers flagging disqualifications on the spot with a raised ski pole.

Carl Hickey is letting his partner Jack de Ryk take care of their Truckee Rents business this winter while Carl resumes his ski teaching, this year at Boreal Ridge.

Ski Area Operators are meeting and skiing at Jackson Hole, Wyoming this week.

If you've waited on the cement steps of Squaw Valley's new tram very long, a wierd senation of going up and down grips you as the huge counter weights move along side. The sounds of "moo" and "baa" are heard among skiers as they are herded from one corral to another, then to the elevator, and finally to the big cable car. And to avoid the Hong Kong Flu, they advise to avoid crowds . . .! How?

Saturday marks the beginning of the Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District's annual ski and skate program. Lessons and lifts are included at Squaw Valley, Powder Bowl and Boreal Ridge. Transportation is via school bus and is supervised by the school district. Hope that the kids interest will rub off on their parents. Everyone should take advantage of the wonderful recreational winter sports areas we have right at our door. Just think how many hours Bay Areaites and Sacramento Valleyites spend driving up here for their snow fun.

Night skiing down the summit on old Highway 40 was a bash. The December 28th torchlight parade was a huge success. The group ended up at Donner Lake Lodge and about 30 enjoyed the party. As we silently drifted down the power snow trail, huge snowcapped rocks loomed up menacingly above us. Good moonlight lit the trail so that the torches were not necessary. Viewers from Donner Lake were entranced by the flare parade, but were alarmed once when Lauren Russell threw his torch down the mountain, causing lake viewers to believe one of us tumbled off a precipice or cornice.

Guess who picked who up at the Sugar Bowl for a trip to the hospital. Sky Miles passenger was his wife Katie, who sustained a bad one Sunday. Katie was pacer for the Donner Lake trotters and was deemed in excellent physical condition, but you know . . .

A round of plaudits to two local ski aces. Wally Rothgeb and Cheryl Bechdolt literally cleaned up at Alta, Utah, by winning the Snow Cup races by a wide margin. Cheryl, skiing for Lake Tahoe Ski Club, won Saturday's Giant Slalom by 7 seconds over Pam Street of Sun Valley and came back on Sunday to win by more than 8 seconds. Rothgeb, skiing for Bear Valley, won both men's events.

Northern Kiers almost dominated all the top spots in the Mammoth Junior Point Meet. Chris Olson of Heavenly Valley won by 2 seconds in the Saturday downhill over Kandi McCoy of Mammoth and then lost by only a second to Heidi Holmes in Sundays race. Cactus Bryan and brother Joe captured first and second honors Saturday and repeated the feat on Sunday to lead in the point parade towards the nationals. They are both from Sacramento and ski for Heavenly Valley.

International racing this week found the American girls well up among the leaders at Berchtesgaden, Germany. Judy Nagel of Enumclaw, Washington, placed first in the Giant Slalom and second in the slalom event. United States girls captured four of the top seven places in the slalom. The men did not fare so well. Rick Chaffee had the best American time, finishing 17th.

Wally, Cheryl Win At Alta

Wally Rothgeb of Bear Valley, Calif. and Cheryl Bechdolt of Mammoth Mountain, Calif. took top honors Sunday to win men's and women's divisions respectively, of the annual Snow Cap races at Alta, Utah.

Men's division runnersup on the tricky giant slalom course included Brian Degen of Tahoe Paradise; Craig Gorder, Salt Lake City; Pat Simpson, Sun Valley; Jim Allsop, University of Washington.

Waterfowl Season Over

The Department of Fish and Game reminds hunters that California's 1968-69 general waterfowl hunting season ends Sunday, January 12.

The duck, goose, coot and gallinule, and jacksnipe seasons all will end on that date.

Hunters still may take black sea brant through February 23. The daily bag limit on brant is four and the possession limit is eight.

Award In Suit At Sierra Lakes

Superior Court Judge Leland J. Propp has awarded the Sierra Lakes County Water District $87,815 because of defective work performed at a mountain residential development near Soda Springs in Placer County.

The judgment was against T. H. McGuire and Son, Valley Engineering, Inc., of Fresno and the Travelers Indemnity Co.

Sandra Ann White Wed To Paul Blair Franklin

Sandra Ann White, daughter of the Wallace Whites of Incline Village, formerly of Reno, was married Dec. 20 to Paul Blair Franklin at the St. Francis of Assisi Church.

The Catholic ceremony was performed by Father Francis Cohan.

The groom's parents are the Jack Franklins of Incline Village. Matron of honor was Mrs. Ernest Scheiber, the bride's sister. Mike Gray was best man.

The bride wore white de-lustered peau d' soie with a high neckline and long sleeves edged with Venice lace. Her circular headpiece matched the wedding dress lace.

Both the new Mrs. Paul Franklin and her husband are June, 1968 graduates of the University of Nevada. The bride was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and graduated with a bachelor in elementary education. The groom was a member of Alpha Tau Omega and graduated with a degree in Civil Engineering.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Southern California. The bride is at home with her parents on Lucile Drive in Incline Village while her husband completes radio school with the U.S. Army at Fort Ord.

A reception followed the 2 p.m. wedding at the Tahoe Racquet Club at Incline.

The bride's father, W. W. (Wally) White was director of the Department of Health and Welfare for the State of Nevada for many years before joining the Incline General Improvement District last summer as general manager.

VOWS PLEDGED — Paul Blair Franklin and Sandra Ann White, were wed Dec. 20 in the St. Francis of Assisi Church, Incline Village.

More Second Thoughts Voiced On Bug Station Closures

With the shut-down of three border plant inspection stations and further closings proposed by the California Department of Agriculture, Forrest Darby, Sacramento County agricultural commissioner, believes locally supported inspections of railway, airline and bus terminals and post offices also may be abandoned.

"It is entirely possible if border stations are evacuated, county inspection points may follow. Why should we continue to inspect on this basis when the borders are wide open? What we have been catching at depots and the post offices is very slight compared to the border station work."

Darby illustrated his point by showing 12 quarantined trees being held in his laboratory after they were nabbed at a local train depot last week pending shipment to their destination at Davis.

"These trees were shipped from a section of Tennessee quarantined for oak wilt, a tree-killing disease we would like to keep out of California. If the border stations are closed, and local inspections are discontinued, these trees probably would have continued on to Davis. If oak wilt, transmitted by insects, began to spread in California it would cost about $25,000,000 in losses and eradication processes. And this is only one disease.

"County detection and survey procedures prescribed to replace border inspections may not catch such problems as oak wilt or Dutch elm disease soon enough. Some spots would be checked only every two years and by then a plant disease could spread to other parts of the state.

"Once the pest becomes widespread it is nearly impossible to eradicate. The citrus whitefly kept showing up more and more and finally we had to abandon eradication procedure and declare it a common pest. It just became too big a problem to lick once the pest established itself in California.

"We are controlling the minor concentrations of new pests because they are not continually flowing into California. After four years and $750,000 we minimized the Japanese beetle influx by a concentrated house-to-house host plant spraying plan.

"We have similar problems right now with other pests, but we're controlling them. But if borders are opened to any and all plants, there just won't be enough men or time or money to stop the infestation that will follow."

Journalists In Slalom This Sunday At Squaw

Class A and B racers will preface the 1969 racing season with a Giant Slalom race on KT 22 at Squaw Valley Sunday.

The race, sponsored by the Northern California and Nevada Ski Wrtiers Association, will start at 10 a.m.

The race is an annual event held at a different resort each year. Participants are advised of their unofficial times; gatekeepers flag disqualifications on the spot with a raised ski pole and immediate results are printed within minutes of the finish of the race.

Association members officiating will be: Phill Babcock, race chairman with Carson White, assistant; Don Thompson, chief starter; Dick Dahl, chief timer; Henry Mockel, referee; Miles Ottenheimer, chief gatekeeper; Vi White, chief recorder and calculator; Carson White, chief of course with Fraser West, assistant; Muriel Mockel and Anne Roessing, race secretary and registration; Hal Roberts, technical advisor and assistant starter; Chapman Wentworth, course police and ski patrol; Garry Nover, Pam Dahl, Bill Dunbar, Barbara Roberts, timers; Mary Solaro, Joan Babcock, Pam Bravo, Norma Thompson, recorders; Muriel Mockel, Anne Roessing, Janet Wentworth, numbers; Walt Roessing, Niel Hercules, Hec Hancock, Al Auger, Art Rudd, Bob Stinnett, Tom Dolley, John Hamilton, Tim Sheppard, Bob Sibilia and Bill Young, gatekeepers.

Registrations, which close at 5 p.m. Saturday, may be made with Carson White, Box 621, Truckee or at the Squaw Valley Sports desk.

Incline Loss To Gerlach

The Incline Village High School basketball team dropped a one-sided decision to Gerlach last week, 93-44, in a Western Nevada "A" Conference game played on the losers court.

Shelly Thompson with 29 and Dave Carter with 24 won high point honors for the Gerlach Lions. Incline lost several players who fouled out during the game and finished with only three eligible men on the floor. Gerlach removed two of their players to keep the teams evenly matched.

Scoring for Incline: Gorman 10, Schwab 9, Tackitt 7, Faber 7, Hume 7, Uhrig 2, and Englehard 2.

In a Junior Varsity game, Gerlach defeated Incline 75-26.

Season Ends

California's 1968-69 hunting seasons for quail, rabbits, tree squirrels and chukars all close Sunday, Jan. 12, the Department of Fish and Game reports.

The same day also will mark the close of the band-tailed pigeon hunting season in the Central and Southern area, the DFG reminds hunters. The northern season closed earlier.

Robert Dahl Advancement

Robert M. Dahl, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin N. Dahl, Truckee, was promoted to Army sergeant Dec. 9 near Glenhausen, Germany, where he is serving with the 3rd Armored Division as a training noncommissioned officer.

His wife, Arva, is with him in Germany.

Charles Kimball Appointed Sales Manager At Incline

Charles S. Kimball, whose sales record made him top man at Incline Village, Inc., has been promoted to sales manager of the Tahoe operation, Jon Adams, sales director, announced today.

Kimball came to Incline Village, Inc., from Fredricksburg, Va., where he was salesman for Lake of the Woods, another United States Land, Inc., project.

In the winter of 1967 Kimball, unaware that Incline Village would be taken over by U.S. Land, came to Ski Incline on a vacation with his wife, Helaine, a former United Air Lines stewardess.

At that time, he recalls saying, "Wow! Why doesn't U.S. Land get something like this?"

Six months later he heard Incline was purchased and shot right out to join the sales team.

Kimball was born in Alexandria, Va. He grew up in Washington D.C. and went to school and college there. He graduated from Western Maryland College, but not until he had served three years with the Marine. He served in Korea 13 months, not suffering a scratch until shrapnel hit him on the day he was to leave.

He holds a BA degree in political science, but his career took him through insurance, including his own marine insurance company until a friend lured him out to Lake of the Woods.

He sold three lots his first week and became hooked on land sales activity.

He became a top salesman with U.S. Land and has now been rewarded with the new post at what is considered one of their most successful operations.

Reward For Cattle Rustlers Offered By Association

No, this is not a reward poster out of the old Tombstone Gazette, but just a realization by the California Cattlemen's Association of an ever-increasing problem of the modern cowman.

Although the alarm has been sounded in recent months over the great influx of crime in our cities, it should not be thought for a moment that this is a problem unique to urban America.

As a matter of fact, the modern day cattle rustler, due to his cunning and sophisticated methods, is inflicting as great a damage to the cattlemen today as he was yesteryear.

To combat this, the California Cattlemen's Association has increased the reward it offers to anyone who leads to the arrest and conviction of a cattle rustler. The reward offered was increased from $500 to $750 for rustlers convicted of a felony and from $100 to $200 for rustlers convicted of a misdemeanor.

Also in an effort to curtail the practical joker and the malicious prankster, as well as the professional cattle thief, the reward has been expanded to include those who turn in information leading to an arrest and conviction of persons involved in shooting, maiming and hit-and-run of cattle.

Plow Operator Hurt In Crash

Mark Moore, well known Truckee young man and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Moore, suffered painful injuries last week when the county snow plow he was driving crashed into a man hole cover at Donner Lake. The impact sent the driver through the windshield, breaking his nose and causing cuts and severe bruises on his face.

Tahoe City PUD Elects To Proceed With Sewage Export

Finding no opposition toward going ahead full blast on its Plan B program for total export of sewage by 1970, the Tahoe City Public Utility District board of directors voted unanimously to award a $1,144,848.50 contract to the Saliba-Jackson-Sub-Terra Construction Co. at a standing-room-only hearing Friday at the Tahoe City Community Center.

Bids were opened Nov. 21, and were supposed to have been awarded Dec. 6. The board requested and was granted an extension to Jan. 6 while it studied alternatives. At the December meeting the board decided it would sign no more contracts until it was able to get additional federal grants as were obtained by the South Tahoe Public Utility District and The Truckee Sanitary District in their export programs. These grants were up to 80 per cent.

At Friday's hearing Fred Hodder, Truckee Sanitary District manager pointed out that the maximum TCPUD could get would be 50 per cent and that it would take over two years to get it. The grants come under an Economic Development Administration program to create jobs. Placer has not been qualified for this program as they had less jobless than El Dorado and Nevada Counties. Hodder said, "Any man along the way can deny the program and your're out."

Contractor Jim Veso, whose bid was $180,000 higher, but No. 2 behind the low bidder said he'd be delighted to see the job rebid. He pointed out that the most TCPUD could get from EDA would be $200,000. It if took two years to get, construction prices and higher bids would eat up the federal grant.

"You'll be money ahead to award the contract right now," Veso said.

The low bidder's extension expired Jan. 6 and without action Friday the job would have had to have been rebid.

Al Marino, Placer County health chief said the board would have to realize the consequences of not awarding the bid.

"Many subdividers have put in dry sewers and sold lots on good faith. All subdivisions since October have been okayed in good faith that building on the lots sold would be allowed. There will be no development at all unless the sewer export line is completed," Marino said.

The line is a 13-million per day capacity, 3-mile collection unit from Timberlands and Sunnyside, along the west shore, to Tahoe City. It will serve the Ward Creek Basin and Sugar Pine Point Park.

Bob Daigh of the California Water Resources Control Board, said a $2-million loan to TCPUD was in the budget for the coming year on the strength of the west shore line. This would be used for the extension to Sugar Pine Point and D. L. Bliss state parks, further down the west shore. He said some other area would grab the money if TCPUD didn't want it.

Fred McLaren of the Lahontan Water Quality Control District, speaking for William Penn Mott, Jr., director of Claifornia Parks and Recreation, said there was $2-million in the budget for next year for completion of sewage collection systems in Sugar Pine Point, D. L. Bliss and Emerald Bay state parks. The plan has been for TCPUD to serve these parks.

South Tahoe Public Utility District has made a strong bid to serve these parks. Its board members and manager sat at the hearing, ready to take action if TCPUD fell down. The parks will truck sewage until the line reaches them in 1971.

Lois Larson, secretary for the Lake Tahoe Area Council read a resolution asking TCPUD to place the contract and proceed to protect Lake Tahoe's waters.

Bill McLaughlin, speaking for over 200 Homewood property owners said, "We earnestly need and want sewers as soon as possible."

Hodder, speaking for the League to Save Lake Tahoe added to the plea for action.

Placer Supervisor Bill Briner, who had favored delay to get EDA money, said, "I've changed my mind."

TCPUD board chairman then asked if there was any opposition to the board going ahead and awarding the contract.

Hearing none, the board acted, with the understanding that the job was let conditioned on the approval of the Federal Water Pollution Control Agency, which will put up 33 per cent of the total cost.

Tahoe-Truckee Beats Colusa Friday, 47-42

Tahoe-Truckee High School downed Colusa Friday night, 47-42, in a Pioneer League basketball game played in the Sierra College gymnasium at Rocklin.

Bill Kinzie was high scorer for the Wolverines with 13 points, while Jerry Winters led the losers with 21. Other Tahoe Truckee scorers were, Franceschinni 9, Walters 7, Lindsey 9, Smart 1, Hiatt 2, and Davis 6.

Tinker Belles Ready Again

The Sierra Tinker Belles Garden Club will hold the first meeting of the year at Sugar Bowl January 14.

President Johnnye Smith will announce the new committee chairmen who will help the officers for 1969.

A workshop at the Truckee Firehouse is scheduled for January 28.

Trout Plants

The Department of Fish and Game reported today that 4,100,600 trout were planted in back country waters by the DFG's aircraft during 1968.

The DFG's twin Beechcraft made 93 planting flights during the year, totalling 146 hours of flying time. A total of 871 lakes were planted, mostly with fingerlings.

Plantings included 1,288,400 kokanee salmon fry, 1,656,607 rainbow and kamloops trout, 497,942 eastern brook trout, 567,000 golden trout, 25,150 browns, 12,000 eagle lake trout and 53,500 cutthroat.

LAKE ECHOES

By BETHEL

Kathlyn Margaret Friendshuh was married in a candlelight double ring ceremony to Richard Edward Bulman at the Lutheran Church of Squaw Valley by Rev. William Dowling at 7:30 p.m. December 22. The bride was given in marriage by her father Leo Friendshuh.

For her wedding, Kathlyn chose a full-length white satin gown with a brocade bodice, full train and a long veil and headdress trimmed with white roses. Her bouquet was white roses with a white orchid in the center and satin streamers.

The bridesmaids, Myrna Bulman, Darlene Kison, Carol Corbin and matron of honor, sister of the bride, Judy Hendrickson, all wore long red velvet gowns with headdresses of net and red and corsages of white varigated carnations and red roses with red streamers. In the center of their bouquets was a white lighted candle.

Best man was the grooms' brother, Douglas Bulman. Ushers were Greg Pope, Dave Quandt, Robert Williams and Ralph Norris. All wore burgandy tuxedos matching the gowns of the brides attendants.

The bride's mother chose a pink dress suit with an orchid corsage while the grooms' mother wore a yellow coat-dress ensemble and a white orchid corsage. The groom's grandmother was attired in a two-piece blue knit dress and wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Chataux at Incline Village. After an undisclosed honeymoon the Bulmans will make their home at Incline.

Kudos to Fred Facciolla of Incline Village. Fred proved to be a good Samaratan to Dr. James and Henrietta Williams of Marysville during the recent blizzard.

The Williams family rented a house for the holidays which presumably would be ready on arrival. A blizzard welcomed them and being unable to locate either their rental or the rentor, and after meandering a couple of hours they took refuge at the Racquet Club to thaw out and seek help. Imagine requesting assistance from the one person who not only knew their rental but had designed it!

Fred accompanied them to the house and instead of a warm haven, frozen pipes, no heat and deep snow greeted them. Fortunately other lodgings were located nearby and new friendships established. However realtors best take heed as the foregoing is how not to make friends in the rental business.

Delzie belongs to the Tahoe Art League and paints as a hobby. She has two neices in Reno, Annette Vanleck and Jerry Olson and daughter Laurie.

The name Sackrider has been famous in San Francisco for the past 29 years when she and her late husband operated one of the best photography studios in the city. Prior to that the Sackriders were longtime Marysville residents, in the photography studio business, and at that time, small town, knowing all the residents–among whom were Ceta and Harry Hooper and Bethel VanTassel – Ceta and Bethel at that time being school kids by the name of Holmes.

Final Buck Tag Tally In State Is Reported At 51,706

The final total of buck tags returned to the Department of Fish and Game for California's 1968 deer hunting seasons was 51,706, the DFG reported today.

The total reported kill was up 29 percent from the 40,000 tags returned in 1967. However, the DFG pointed out that the reported bags for the years 1966, 1967, and 1968 are not directly comparable because of changes in the tag validation system.

Prior to 1967, successful deer hunters were required to have their tags validated by specified officers, who forwarded the "report" portion to the DFG. In 1967, hunters were allowed to validate their own tags and required to forward the "report" portion, with the postage prepaid by the DFG. In 1968, the "self-validation" system remained in effect, but hunters were required to pay the postage. There were indications that in 1967, the first year of self-validation, a number of hunters did not submit the report section of the tags.

The five-year average for 1962-66 was 61,729. The 1963-67 average, which includes the initial year of self-validation, was 58,748.

Humboldt County, with portions in both the early and late seasons, was the top buck hunting country with 4,694 tags returned to the DFG. Mendocino County, entirely in the early season, was No. 2 with 4,222. Siskiyou, 3,857; Shasta, 2,291; and Tehama, 2,059, all entirely in the late season, rounded out the top five counties for reported kill during 1968.

Nevada County reported 729 killed during the season, as compared to an average of 894 per year from 1963 through 1967. Two deer were reported killed with bow and arrow during the archery season in 1968.

In the 1968 season, 584 bucks were reported in Placer County, compared to an 858 average for the years 1963 through 1967. One deer was killed in the archery season.

A total of 399 deer were taken by bow hunters throughout California in the 1968 archery season.

SAFETY AWARD – Danny Britt, left, of the Truckee District Tahoe National Forest office, presents a spinning reel and rod to Rod Bell, scaler for the U.S. Forest Service. Nevada Snow Pack 125% Of Normal

Good news for water users is indicated by early season snow surveys, according to Charles W. Cleary, Jr., State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Reno. Although the information is based on a limited number of snow course measurements, the snow pack is about 125 per cent of normal throughout Nevada.

"Since 1968 was a poor year for many water users, this encouraging information should be most welcome," Cleary said.

Last year's extremely low streamflow imposed a large demand on the underground water supply. The heavy use of reservoir water left the Humboldt and Owyhee drainages far below average in reservoir water. Sorage in the Tahoe-Truckee area is in good shape, however, with Tahoe containing 133 per cent of normal storage. Reservoir water in the Carson and Walker drainages is about 85 per cent of average.

The snow pack in the Truckee, Carson, and Walker River drainages is already near the February 1 average water content. The Owyhee and Humboldt Basins also received the good Christmas Day storm, and these basins are currently above normal, with the lower-elevation snow pack almost twice average for this date.

Cleary emphasized that to maintain this "near -average" water picture, Nevada must receive average or above average amounts of snow for the remainder of the snow season.

Snow surveys will be taken again on February 1 and will cover a wider area. By that time, about two-thirds of the season's total snow water will be deposited, giving a much better indication of the 1969 water supply.

EDA Recommends Expansion Of Commercial Recreation

Expansion of commercial recration in Nevada County has been recommended by the federal Economic Development Administration.

In a report released last week, EDA officials gave high priority to development of a ski facility, a hunting and fishing lodge, and a visitor information center, all to be financed with private capital.

The report was released by county chamber of commerce executive manager John A. Gallegos and was prepared under and EDA grant by Economics Research Associates of Los Angeles.

"EDA has sponsored this study in hopes that the development of commercial recreation attractions can reduce the excessively high unemployment rate in Nevada County," according to the report. The county's unemployment averages more than 13 per cent and reaches more than 25 per cent in the winter.

The study indicates the three projects could produce nearly 40 direct jobs and bring in $30,-000 in sales taxes annually. Revenues from property taxes would bring in another $25,000, according to researchers.

County officials are urged in the report to try to capitalize on an estimated 3 million visitors who come to the mountain-valley region comprised of Nevada, Sierra, Placer, El Dorado, Amador and Alpine Counties.

Citing expected future growth in the popularity of skiing, EDA officials said facilities to accommodate an additional 1,500 skiers are proposed. Another ski complex of equal size would be needed after five years, researchers predicted. Designated as possible sites for new ski developments are Castle Peak near Soda Springs and Red Mountain 2 miles west of Cisco Grove, Placer County, near the Nevada County line. Both locations would have access to nearby Interstate 80.

Donner Lake Rollins Reservoir and Scotts Flat Reservoir are named as likely spots for the fishing-hunting lodge, and three sites on Interstate 80 were discussed for the information center.

Future review of the report and its recommendations is planned by the county's chamber of commerce directors and Nevada County officials. Copies of the report are available from Gallegos at the chamber office in Nevada City.

No Licenses For Snowmobiles

Snowmobiles, increasingly popular in Nevada, aren't eligible for motor vehicle licensing, the state said last week.

Richard Herz, chief of the motor vehicles department's registration division, said he advised county officials he doesn't consider the devices proper for licensing under the law.

But the question of whether snowmobiles can be operated on streets and highways is one Herz says he can't answer.

"This is a local law enforcement question," he said. "I can see some circumstances where they could be used on the streets."

Herz said the law defines a motor vehicle as a self-propelled unit operated upon a highway.

"There's nothing in the statutes concerning snowmobiles," he said. "Possibly, because they are getting to be used to much, the legislature may want to take a look at the situation."

Herz said he sent letters to county auditors after receiving telephone calls from officials in Ely and at Lake Tahoe, where persons were running snowmobiles on the streets.

"I consider them motorized sleds," Herz said.

Parked Cars Hinder Incline Snow Removal

Cars parked on streets at Incline Village are impeding the work of snow plows according to personnel of the county road department and the Washoe County Sheriff's office.

A spokesman at the sheriff's office said if necessary cars will be towed at the owner's expense with additional storage charges for cars not picked up after towing.

Those streets which have too many cars to make towing feasable will not be plowed said the spokesman.

Unsubstantiated Downed Plane

Houseboats Featured At Show

Luxurious houseboats – to buy or to rent – will be on display at the 27th annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show, January 10–19, at the Cow Palace, the first national boat show in the country for the new year.

With its popularity on a continually steady increase, "houseboating" has become a family vacation concept, and the manufacturers have been quick to recognize the trend.

Among those to exhibit new entries for 1969 will be Chris–Craft, with its new 33' model. It is made of fiberglass, sleeps six persons and has 6'5" headroom throughout.

Nauta–Line will introduce its 43' top–of–the–line model which features yacht performance and elegance at one–third the cost of the same size cruiser. It has 400 square feet of living space, a unique U–shaped dinette which seats eight for dinner and a galley room that makes meal preparation easy and pleasurable.

Boatel will feature its Cougar 35', all–fiberglass model which has been developed over a 12–year period. Among its features are an all–weather carpeted lounge and a safety glass window fore and aft.

Other houseboats include models from Gregor, Olson, Trojan and several rental houseboats, including Holiday Floatels and Drift–R–Cruz.

Show hours will be 2–11 p.m., daily; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturdays; and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sundays.

Chamber Pot-Shots:

By BETTY LAYTON

In a recent San Francisco newspaper, the "skier's station" and Sno-Fone, KPAT, was commended on its excellent 24-hour ski-reporting service. If you phone the number (848-7717) you'll hear an honest reporting on ski and snow conditions in the High Sierra Mountains; you'll also hear that the information is given through the courtesy of the North Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce, thanks to their very efficient Vice President, John Hamilton.

This year the Sno Ball and "Miss Sierra Snoflake" Beauty Contest promises a larger entry (14 competing) through the generosity of their sponsors, and an entertaining Master of Ceremony who will add to the festivities of the 8th annual event. Each year, it seems impossible to "top" the previous array of lovely girls, the decor, and the showmanship of some of our illustrious M.C.'s. However, this year with one of the legendary names of skiing, Hannes Schroll, as our person appointed to interview our contestants, it promises to be lively and most entertaining.

Dorothy Introf is in charge of reservations and it is on the first-come, best-seat basis, so contact Mrs. Introf or the chamber office if you have not received your invitation in the mail.

The Snowball is one of the highlites of the winter season at North Tahoe and the public is invited. In the eight years of its existence, the price has only been raised $1 so you can't beat the value!

Artistic Maxine Olson is working with her committee to come up with some beautiful creations for the table this year and Les Edinburg is lending his talents too.

In such a small mountain community you don't expect to find such talents as Sharon Laferriere possesses. She is training the contestants and not only is she a beauty herself but she has demonstrated her professional acting abilities in many of the little theater productions at North Tahoe and she can be reminiscent of her days as a professional dancer with the June Taylor dancers on the Jackie Gleason Show. Her sister, Roselyn Hamblin, won the title of "Miss Sierra Snowflake" a few years ago and went on to capture the "Miss Lake Tahoe" contest at the South Shore.

Eileen Wilen who is in charge of the Judges, has a lustrous background as a Powers model, a starlet for 20th Century Fox, an airline stewardess and a photographer's model.

Steve Rose of Agate Bay and his "Flower Child," Lyle Radtke, will offer a few engaging selections between scenes!

Another holiday season is just a memory and a respite for the businesses who serviced the many skiers and visitors who swarmed into the area. The chamber office performed a real service on a ten-to-twelve hour per day basis with the following figures to substantiate the activity, which doesn't highlight the great number of visitors we received each day in the office for maps, directions and general information.

The chamber serviced 477 reservations and placed 2,037 people 1,873 nights in 643 rooms in chamber member motels with only a minimum number of cancellations through the chamber office the reservation service necessitated the hiring of another office girl and we believe the service of the chamber in handling the direct calls on a personal basis resulted in better service, less cancellations and "no-shows." These figures are compiled for only the holiday season and we shall continue the reservation personalized service, promotion and advertising of our Ski Tahoe North phone – 583-3406 – for the special mid-week ski packages which are offered by every ski area and chamber member motel.

The chamber board of directors is holding its regular meeting at Schubert's in Kings Beach for lunch, Wednesday, Jan. 8, to make final preparations for the Snowmobile Races the 18th at the Brockway Golf Course, and the popular Dog Sled Races to be held in Squaw Valley the 25th and 26th of January. All members and guests are always welcome to attend these director's meetings.

Snowmobile and Dog-Sled Races Major Events Of Winter Carnival

Two top snowmobile racers have entered the Greater North Lake Tahoe Winter Carnival's Fourth Annual Sno-Mobile race Jan. 18, Kings Beach as a shakedown before a shot at the big time.

Jan. 20 the pair will leave for Winnipeg, Canada for the rugged St. Paul Winter Carnival International 500, which starts Jan. 27. This 3-1/2 day race from Winnipeg to St. Paul is run in temperatures down to 21 degrees below zero, which cools the gritty drivers, averaging 38 mph as though it were 78 below. Last year only a dozen finished out of 125 entries.

Representing Incline Village will be David McClelland, veteran of last year's race and Miss Dorothy Mercer, top snow and water skier who has taken up snowmobile racing as a greater challenge.

McClelland is sponsored by United States Land, Inc., the parent firm of Incline Village, Inc. Miss Mercer is being sponsored by Ceasar's Palace, Las Vegas. She is the first woman to enter the national race.

Local Savings Firm Has Pioneer Spirit

"Man's greatest achievement is to give himself something so big and important to do that it will take decades to finish."

That was the philosophy of E. T. Robie, California pioneer and founder of Central California Federal Savings and Loan Association, the banking firm which recently opened a unique mobile facility in Truckee and Tahoe City.

Robie and his associates organized Placer Loan Company in Auburn in September of 1898 to serve the home financing needs of the area. Directors of the young firm included S. J. Pullen of Auburn and J. S. Ryan of Rocklin.

Robie was instrumental in amending articles to establish the Auburn Savings Bank in 1909, and in 1926 the institution became known as Central California Building and Loan Association. The directors of this company were L. Huntley, J. E. Walsh, G. W. Brundage, C. H. Slade, and L. Klumpp.

In March, 1936, the firm received a federal charter and became known as Central California Federal Savings and Loan Association. A branch office was opened in Davis in 1954, one in Vacaville in 1960, another in Woodland in 1964, a branch in Fairfield was opened in 1967, and in August, 1968, federal approval was granted to provide mobile service in Colfax, Truckee, and Tahoe City.

The mobile office, under the direction of its manager, Stuart Foster, provides full savings and loan services. The unit is stationed in the Gateway Shopping Center, Truckee, Wednesday and Thursday of each week, and in Tahoe City next to the Hauserman Real Estate office on Friday and Saturday.

Michael Harder

Funeral services were held at the Corpus Christi Catholic Church in Tahoe City Saturday at 10 a.m. for Michael Douglas Harder, 2 months and 29 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Harder of Tahoe City who died in a Reno hospital Jan. 2. The child had been ill since birth.

Father Ronan Brennan officiated at the rites and burial was in Trail's End cemetery at Tahoe City.

Besides his parents, the boy was survived by one brother, Christopher, 10, and three sisters, Cathleen, 8; Cynthia, 7, and Mary Beth, 5.

The Truckee – Tahoe Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

SWINGING INTO ACTION – Mrs. Tom (Ellie) Trengali of San Francisco and Incline Village swings into action with Peter Graff, son of the Russel Graffs of New York and Incline, at a party given by Pierce Lathrop of the East Bay on Dec. 29. Pierce Lathrop took over the hotel in the Ponderosa compound for his western snowtime party. Guests wore a combination of snow and western wear.

Fire Razes Truckee Landmark

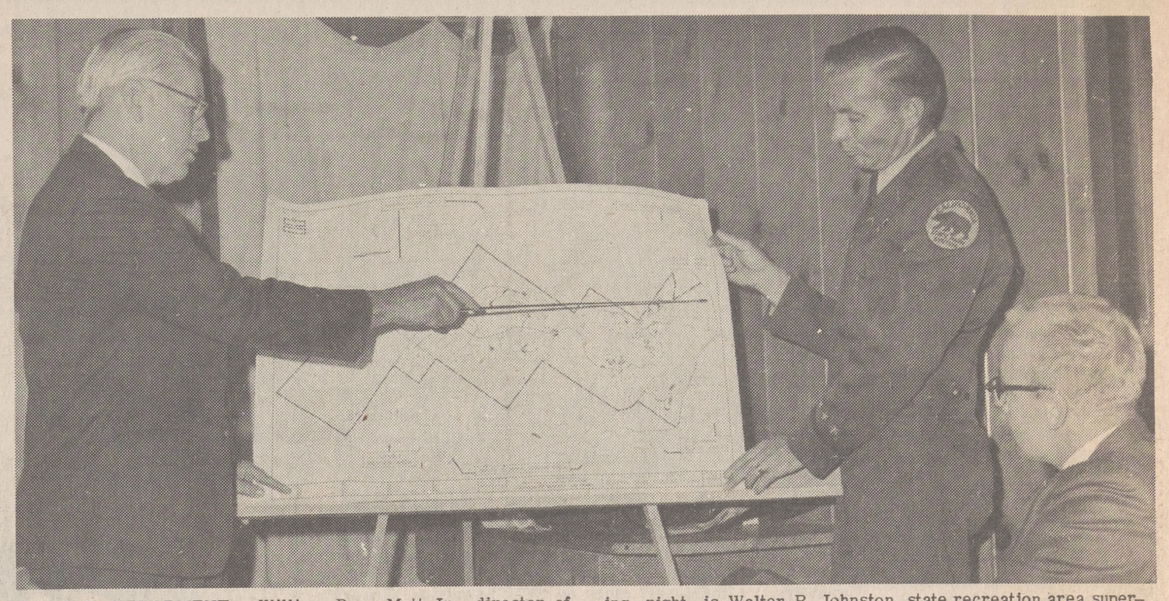

TRUCKEE – One of Truckee's landmarks, a huge two-story dwelling built more than a century ago by Ellen Ellen, who operated a large sawmill just north of here, was destroyed in an early morning blaze Saturday.

The fire, believed to be started accidentally by three skiers who were occupying the building, threatened nearby structures including the N.F. Dolley Apartments just across the road.

Truckee Volunteer Fire Department responsed to the three alarms at 2:30 a.m. and battled the blaze until 7 a.m., preventing its spread in a stiff wind and blowing snow.

The ancient dwelling was the former home of the late Joseph Sanders, who purchased it from the Ellen estate and later sold it to David Campbell of Sacramento, the present owners, whose family used it only as a summer residence.

Indications are the skiers, not immediately identified, had permission to use the house and had built a fire in a small stove and in some manner the fire got out of control and gained headway in the dry frame building.

PARK DEVELOPMENT – William Penn Mott Jr., director of the California Department of Parks and Recreation, left, Thursday described development of the state's 1,975-acre Sugar Pine Point Park. Mott said the park would ultimately handle some 3,000 people per day, supplementing Bliss Park's 1,200 capacity and Emerald Bay Park's 1,500 capacity. Standing, right, is Walter R. Johnston, state recreation area supervisor, Squaw Valley. Seated is Roger Imsdahl, Placer County engineer, member of the Technical Advisory Committee of the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency, which approved the park plans after the presentation.

Bank Sees Continued State Economic Growth

California's economy will continue to expand in 1969, but the rate of growth will be somewhat slower than in 1968, Wells Fargo Bank reports.

The bank looks for some easing in the overall rate of expansion during the first half of 1969, but during the third and fourth quarters the state's economy should once again display the strength that has characterized it most of 1968.

Restraints on first half growth include cutbacks in the state's non-Vietnam related defense activities, the continuing impact of the 10 per cent surtax, larger income tax payments in April, the rise in Social Security tax rates beginning Jan. 1 and the general effect on California of a slowing national economy.

INCOME AND EMPLOYMENT

Total personal income should rise to about $81.5 million next year, a gain of 7 per cent. The estimated increase this year is 8 per cent. The slightly lower rate of gain may result from smaller wage and salary increases and smaller gains in employment.

Total employment is expected to rise a little more than 2.5 per cent to approximately 8 million. The gain this year was better than 3.5 per cent. The labor force, however, will continue to grow about as rapidly as it did during 1968, raising the unemployment rate a little higher than the current average of 4.5 per cent.

HOUSING

Total housing starts in California in 1969 are expected to climb to between 180,000 and 190,000 units. This year's total is approximately 155,000. Apartment construction will increase over past years, reflecting the higher land and building costs for single family homes and changes in the age and family characteristics of the state's population.

Housing construction should benefit from more favorable mortgage market conditions, slightly lower interest rates and an underlying housing demand.

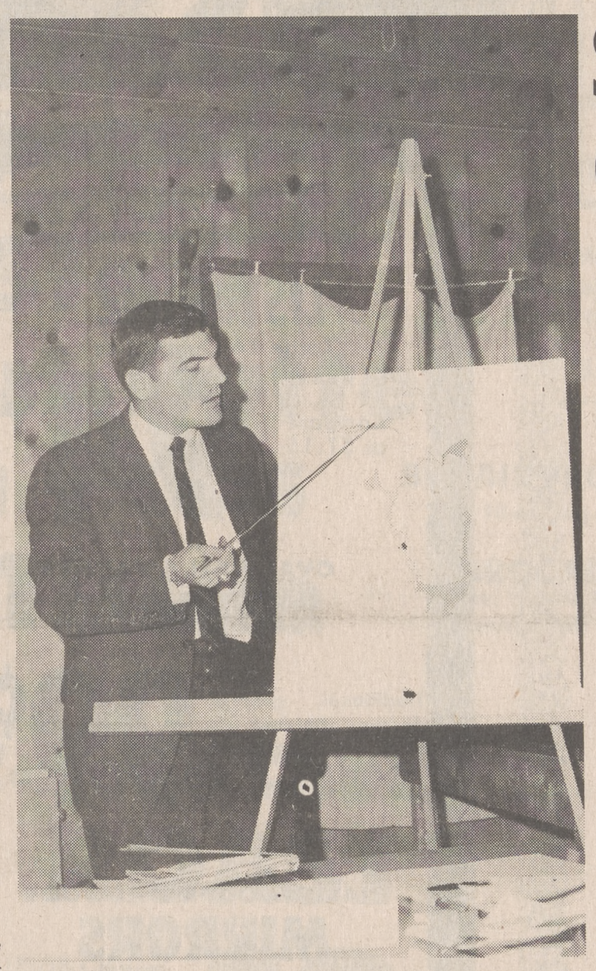

CONSUMER SPENDING

Consumer spending during 1969 should continue on an upward trend, but slightly less than the 10 per cent gain this year. The slowdown in spending will be most apparent during the first six months of the new year, when tax burdens will be most severly felt.

Sales of new automobiles are expected to be somewhat reduced from the 900,000 estimated for 1968. Other sonsumer durables, particularly household appliances and some furnishings, should show strong gains as a result of the shift in funds from auto purchases and the higher rate of home building. Prices will continue upward during 1969, but not at this year's rate.

Buck Stew Scheduled

The annual VFW Post 7077 "Buck Stew" will be held Jan. 18 at Elk's Hall, Kings Beach. Dinner will be served from 3 p.m. Donation is $1.50 per person. Prizes will be awarded. It is open to the public.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL – Don Andres, waste disposal expert with the California Health Department, Thursday outlined North Lake Tahoe garbage disposal problems and pointed out on map, pictured above, the possible out-of-basin disposal sites for solid waste. The state of California is making a basin-wide study, plans to have a final draft of a report ready for review in February.

Scenic Railway Gets CTRPA 'Favor' Rating

Members of the Technical Advisory Committee of the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (CTRPA), Thursday looked with favor on a South Lake Tahoe plan on narrow guage steam power excursion railway, but moved to have it subjected to review and comment on whether it meets agency goals and policies.

At the meeting, Bruce Robison, El Dorado County planning director, and Gary Chase, South Lake Tahoe planning director, said they favored the project because it reactivates historic use of certain lands and relates to a particular era of history.

Robinson said there will be strict architectural control on stations, train yards and shops. Cuts and fills will be reseeded and revegetated.

Robert Rice, U.S. Forest Service ranger, Meyers, said the USFS would not permit this type of service on its lands. Rice questioned whether the railway met the goals and policies of CTRPA, pointing out meadow areas would be used.

Bob Keller, the railway developer, challenged the USFS stand.

Fred Barber, Placer County planning director, asked the project be approved by California Fish and Game authorities as to the stream encroachment, and that it have a highway setback and planting on its parking lot.

In other action, the TAC committee heard a complete report on Sugar Pine Point Park development from William P. Mott Jr., director of the California Department of Parks and Recreation.

Mott said the 1,975-acre park would be developed to handle some 3,000 people within the next decade. The section on the lakeside of Highway 89, will be kept in its original state, Mott said.

The first unit of the campgrounds, west of the highway will be completed this summer.

Mott said the park department budget for 1969-70 would include an extra $2 million for the sewering of Emerald Bay, Bliss and Sugar Pine Point Parks. These collection lines will feed into a tank which will be emptied by truck until a sewage export line reaches the parks.

Bliss Park can handle a maximum of 1,200 people a day and Emerald Park can hold 1,500, Mott said.

The TAC Committee, approved the parks plan asking that Mott report to the agency when the West Shore Parkway design was completed.

Mott is meeting with the California Highway Commission on the parkway design and routing.

TAC committee heard a preliminary report from Peter A. Rogers, California Department of Public Health, on a basin-wide study of solid waste disposal, now under way and to be completed by February.

Don Andres and Jim Cornelius, sanitary engineers, reported on North and South Lake Tahoe garbage disposal problems, outlined possible future out-of-Basin disposal sites.

The study will include an estimated population figure for the year 2000.

TAC committee reviewed a 100-unit condominum project called Lakewood Shores, near Tahoe City, that included a well that would produce a stream, fill several ponds and a swimming pool. It ran into heavy controversy on whether the water produced and sent to the lake was industrial wastes or not.

The subdivision went through after long discussion.

A 172-unit condominium project at Rocky Ridge, drew fire because it appears that the access road would cause scarring which would be visible from the lake. The development was approved, though questioned by CTRPA chairman J. Allen Bray.

Bray felt the project should be more carefully reviewed, but was told flatly that the professional members of the TAC committee would not be paid for the two or three days' work required for study.

In other action, the TAC committee completed its review of a model subdivision ordinance and sent along to CTRPA for its first reading.

Chinese Year Celebrated In Bay Area

If your New Year's fizzles, or even if it doesn't you can still catch the second show in San Francisco.

This swinging cosmopolis stages two New Year's celebrations every winter. And the forthcoming one will really be something to crow about.

The West's biggest Chinese community is getting ready to ring in the Year of the Rooster, 4667 on the Chinese lunar calendar.

The rooster officially ousts the monkey on Feb. 17. But the feathers won't begin to fly in San Francisco until five days later, according to the local Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Most of the city's more than 60,000 Chinese – Americans will keep to their homes for the traditional observance of Yuan Don (New Year's Day.)

The oriental revelry will erupt here on Feb. 22 and continue for nine festival days.

Naida 'Skilled Virtuoso' Featured On Drums, Bongos

The snow bedecked, unspoiled shores of North Lake Tahoe echo to the rhythmical charm of Hawaiian melodies this week, as the popular Naida and Nano Quartet star at Nevada Lodge.

ISLAND ENTERTAINERS – The Naida and Nano Quartet appear nightly at North Tahoe's Nevada Lodge, bringing the sultry excitement of the Islands to the lovely snow bedecked shores of North Lake Tahoe. The quartet features Naida on cocktail drums, Nano on guitar and Mickey Lyman on ukelele. The group, long a favorite at Nevada Lodge, will appear nightly through Jan. 10.

Appearing nightly in the Topaz Room of North Lake Tahoe's largest year-round resort hotel casino, the talented group displays once again why they have one of the most popular acts on the circuit.

Beauteous Naida is an exciting, vibrant songstress and dancer – and skilled virtuoso on cocktail drums and bongos. Her sensuous dance interpretations are a highlight of the act. Nano's guitar mastery drives the group to great heights, and he lends his rich voice to sparkling duets with Naida.

The oft-maligned ukelele comes to new life under the talented fingers of Mickey Lyman. Incredible rich melodies emanate from this deceptively simple instrument; it is said that a ukelele in Lyman's hands is like a full 12-string guitar in ordinary hands. The quartet is rounded out by the dynamic drummer.

The groupls repertoire is by no means limited to Hawaiian songs; they render a complete range of standards and contemporary hits with a South Pacific flavor that is unique.

The Naida and Nano Quartet will appear at Nevada Lodge through Jan. 19.

Williams Signs Up For Year

Andy Williams, whose programs on the NBC Television Network won three Emmy Awards between 1963 and 1967, has signed a new long-term agreement with NBC and will return to the NBC-TV Network in the 1969-70 season to star in a new full-hour weekly musical-variety colorcast series.

The announcement was made today by Mort Werner, Vice President, Programs and Talent, NBC-TV Network.

"Since the day Andy's last weekly series ended, May 7, 1967," Mr. Werner said, "we've been anxious to get him back with NBC on a regular basis.

"His new program will have many of the same elements that made his Emmy Award-winning shows so popular, and many new features developed from his vastly successful concert appearances all over the world. The all-family appeal of Andy Williams is well known to NBC-TV audiences, and we're delighted that he'll be on every week next season."

Andy William's programs on NBC - TV received Emmy Awards for outstanding achievement in variety in 1963, 1966 and 1967.

Since his last regular program, he has starred in three entertainment specials on NBC-TV, "Love, Andy" in November, 1967, "The Andy Williams Christmas Show" in December, 1967, and "The H. Andrew Williams Kaleidoscope" in May, 1968. In addition, he was host-announcer of the Andy Williams San Diego Open on NBC-TV.

Next month, on Thursday, Dec. 19 (8-9 o.m. PST; 7-8 p.m. EST), Andy will be joined by about 40 members of the Williams family for his eighth annual Christmas season colorcast on NBC-TV.

From 1962 to 1967 Williams was a regular on NBC-TV. He starred in a weekly series from 1962 to 1963; 12 programs in 10 months in 1963-64, and weekly series during the seasons of 1964-65, 1965-66 and 1966-67.

Williams started as a singer in his home town of Wall Lake, Iowa, when his father, an amateur musician, formed a church choir consisting of Andy, his parents and his three older brothers, Bob, Dick and Don.

Andy has received many awards during his tenure as a television and recording star. He was named "Personality of the Year" by the Variety Clubs of America in 1959; has been selected by radio-TV editors as Man of the Year, Vocalist of the Year (male), and All-American Award winner on five occasions. In total, the honors he has reaped number more than 40.

His records - singles as well as albums - are best sellers. His hits include "Honey," "Born Free," "Moon River" and many others. He has had 13 consecutive gold albums, with sales of one million or more.

FATHER AND SON - Brian Keith, right, and Brandon DeWilde portray Cam and Bucky Calloway, two members of a courageous family which struggles against tremendous odds to establish a sanctuary for wild geese in the backwoods of Vermont, in "Those Calloways," a three-part story on NBC Television Network's "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color" Sundays, Jan. 12, 19 and 26 (7:30-8:30 p.m.) - Photo courtesy NBC

Backwoods Family Drama Scheduled

Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Brandon de Wilde, Walter Brennan and Ed Wynn star in "Those Calloways," a three - part drama of one family's struggle to maintain a wilderness home and establish a sanctuary for migrating geese, will be presented on NBC Television Network's "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color" Sundays, Jan. 12, 19 and 26 (7:30-8:30 p.m. The story is set in the colorful woods of Vermont.

In Part One of Jan. 12, the family is known as those "Crazy Calloways' because of their preference for backwoods life and their desire to protect the migrating geese from hunters. Cam Calloway (Keith) dreams of buying a pond as a sanctuary for the geese. His son, Bucky (de Wilde), backs his father even to a fight in town in front of his childhood friend, Bridie Mellott (Linda Evans). Cam's wife, Liddy (Miss Miles), tolerates Cam's dreams but longs for a more stable life than the backwoods offer. Cam's immediate problems are his constant battle with the bottle and the setting of trap lines. He suffers a broken leg while scouting a foreboding valley. Bucky undertakes to do the trapping as part one ends.

Brennan is cast as Alf Simes, the town crier; Wynn as Ed Parker, a townsman; John Larkin as shopkeeper Jim Mellot; Philip Abbott as Dell Fraser, a promoter; Parley Baer as Doane Shattuck, a townsman; and Frank de Kova as Nigosh, an Indian.

This program was co-produced by Winston Hibbler for Walt Disney, scripted by Louis Pelletier from the book, "Swiftwater" by Paul Annixter, and directed by Norman Tokar.

Bill Cosby Comedy Show Next Season

Bill Cosby, who became one of entertainment's biggest stars in winning three Emmys in as many years for his performances in NBC-TV's "I Spy" series, returns to weekly television next season in a new half-hour comedy-drama on the NBC Television Network.

Under the long-term agreement between NBC and Campbell-Silver-Cosby Corp., the first to be colorcast during the 1969-70 season. Also included is a committment between NBC and C-S-C to produce two half-hour animated specials based on the characters "Fat Albert" and "Wierd Harold" made famous by Cosby in his record albums, in his nightclub act and on his nationally broadcast five-day-a-week radio program.

Cosby is currently in production for his second "The Bill Cosby Special," to be colorcast during the current season. His first special was aired for NBC-TV's 1967-68 season.

Cosby, who won the three Emmy Awards as the best actor in a continuing role as Alexander Scott in the "I Spy" series, is Vice President of the Campbell-Silver-Cosby firm. Roy Silver is President and Bruce Campbell is a Vice President.

Over the last four years, Cosby's six comedy albums have each sold over a million copies. This most recent, released late last year, is "To Russell, My Brother, Whom I Slept With." In addition, he has recorded two singing albums, although he likens his vocal efforts to "a quarterback shouting signals to music."

He is to star in a motion picture, to be produced by the C-S-C team, titled "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." It will go into production in November.

Dirksen Guest On Press Show

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R.-Ill.), will be the guest on "Meet the Press" Sunday, Jan. 12 on the NBC Television Network.

Newsmen interviewing Senator Dirksen will be Rowland Evans of the Chicago Sun-Times; Alan Otten of the Wall Street Journal, Jack Bell of the Associated Press, and Herbert Kaplow of NBC News.

Boat Show To Feature New Styles

Leading boat builders will reveal all that's new for '69 with their glittering displays of sparkling new boats at the 27th Annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show at the Cow Palace, Jan. 10 through 19.

Show times will be from 2 to 11 p.m. daily; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m, Saturdays, and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Sundays.

New styling and completely new designs will be on the line side by side for boat thumpers to see and compare. Among those with the big chances will be Century Boat Co., which has eliminated its mahogany line completely and has built all its 1969 boats of fiberglass.

Chrysler will introduce seven all-new models with a contemporary cathedral hull design.

Glasspar Boats will feature a new boat construction called "Life Guard." A special foaming plastic is sprayed onto the inner hull, a second sheet of fiberglass is added, and all three components are bonded together by chemical reaction. This adds strength to the boat and eliminates vibration.

Man to man: "For years I saved for a rainy day. Then I met a girl who wiped it out with one monsoon."

Comedian Returns To Harrah's

Master comedian Bill Cosby returns to Harrah's Tahoe South Shore Room on Wednesday, Jan. 8, for an appearance through Jan. 21.

Rhetta Hughes, the Maggie Banks Dancers and Brian Farnon and his orchestra will complete Cosby's South Shore Room engagement.

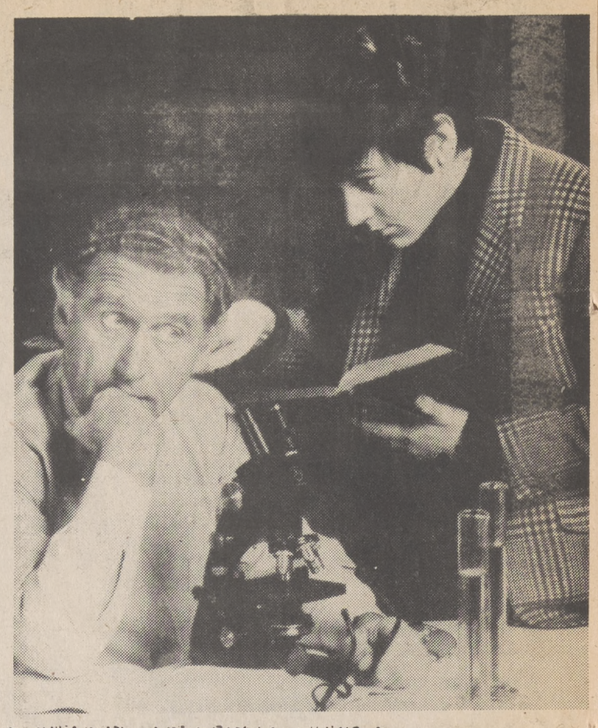

Temple University lost one of its most promising gridders when the comic decided that he'd rather tackle show business.

After two years at the school on an athletic scholarship, and after two years of deciding he'd rather make money than grades, Cosby left the institution of higher learning for the institution of higher earning.

He made the right play.

Cosby ran rampant over the field of small niteries until his reputation caught up with him. The rest is history.

ANTI-CRIME TEAM - James Whitmore left, and Italian newcomer Enzo Ceruisco co-star, respectively, as scientific crime combatant John Woodruff and his fun-loving legman, Tony Novello, partnered as a private investigative team, in Sheldon Leonard's new mystery-comedy color series, "My Friend Tony," which premiered on the NBC Television Network last Sunday.

Grid Stars Ready

Nineteen All-Americans will be among the 56 college football stars playing in the 20th Annual Senior Bowl Game to be colorcast by the NBC Television Network Saturday, Jan. 11, beginning at 11 a.m. from Ladd Memorial Stadium in Mobile, Ala.

The Senior Bowl is thoroughly scouted each year by professional football people since most of the stars will be drafted by teams in either the AFL or NFL leagues.

Specialists Are Sought For Vietnam

The State Department's Agency of International Development will conduct a two-day campaign Tuesday and Wednesday to recruit civilian specialists to work in Saigon and the provinces of Saigon.

Persons are needed to help bring a better life to 16 million Vietnamese through the pacification and nation-building effort which became intensified in 1965.

A.I.D. officials report they have had excellent responses to their previous campaigns in California. However, additional specialized people are needed to replace personnel whose tours of duty are coming to an end in 1969. Although nearly half of the A.I.D. personnel will return for a second tour of duty, vacancies will exist for:

Rural development officers to assist Vietnamese provincial officials in civil operations and help coordinate and support wide range of A.I.D. activities, including "self-help" development for local schools, health clinics, agricultural development and wells;

Auditor controller interns to participate in training programs designed to develop auditors who will be able to assume responsibilities for the agency's overseas functions;

Railroad advisers to provide technical assistance to the Vietnamese railroad officials on construction, reconstruction, and maintenance on all railroad facilities;

Other categories are commodity analysts (chemical), electrical engineers (telecommunications), auditors, nurse anesthetists, nurse education advisors, program economists, police advisors, refugee relief officers and secretaries.

Applicants must be willing to spend 18 months in Vietnam, without dependents, but may visit their families twice during that period. Salaries range from $6,800 per year to $18,000 per year,

Temporary recruitment headquarters will be the Cabana Lodge, 430 16th St. Sacramento. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Applicants may either call for an appointment – (916) 444-3670 – or come directly to the headquarters. Out-of-town collect calls will be accepted.

Inaugural Float Readied

The California Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the state's float in the inaugural parade. Announcement was made by cochairmen of the chamber's fund raising for the float, Dr. A. O. Beckman and Ernest J. Loebbecke.

The State Chamber agreed to sponsor the float at the request of the Republican State Central Committee. State Chamber spokesmen said the chamber agreed, because this will bring to the attention of millions of TV spectators the importance of California's past and future to the nation's growth as a world leader.

There will be only one float and one band from each state in the parade. President-elect Nixon's hometown band, the Whittier band, will represent California.

The California float will lead the inaugural parade, and other states will follow in order of their admission to the Union.

Snow Vehicle Licensing Under Study

CARSON CITY – The Nevada legislature, which will convene in three weeks, probably will be asked to decide whether the state should step into the field of snow vehicle licensing.

Richard Herz, chief of the Motor Vehicle Department's registration division, has informed county assessors that licenses are not now required for the snow vehicles, explaining the law defines a motor vehicle as a self-propelled unit operated upon a highway.

"There's nothing in the statutes concerning snow vehicles," Herz said. "Possibly, because they are getting to be used so much, the legislature may want to take a look at the situation."

As for himself, "I consider them motorized sleds," Herz said. The question arose after Herz received telephone calls from Ely and Lake Tahoe where operators were running snow vehicles in the streets.

California Income Tax Forms Have Been Mailed

Nearly six million 1968 California income tax forms are on their way to state taxpayers as the Franchise Tax Board completed its annual mailing on Monday.

Most California taxpayers will receive a packet of materials containing Form 540 and an instruction booklet, said Martin Huff, executive officer. However, if a taxpayer has moved since filing his return last year, he will not receive his forms directly in the mail and should plan to pick them up at one of the many distribution points located throughout the state.

An additional five million forms are being mailed to banks, chambers of commerce, some U.S. Post Office facilities, and offices of the State Board of Equalization, the State Department of Motor Vehicles, and the State Department of Employment. Taxpayers who do not receive forms directly in the mail may pick them up at the above locations or at any office of the Franchise Tax Board, or upon request, they will be sent from the main office at 1025 P St., Sacramento.

Single persons with an adjusted gross income of $3,250 or more, and married couples with an adjusted gross income of $6,500 or more, are required to file a return.

The filing deadline is April 15, but an early start in preparing returns may be benificial to the taxpayer, Huff pointed out. It allows him time to double check his figures and compile his records when he is not under pressure of a last minute deadline, he said.

CTRPA Fund Move Delayed

El Dorado County Supervisors has left to the new board of supervisors, taking office Monday, a request from the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency for the county's share of agency financing.

The agency submitted a copy of the breakdown of costs among the state and El Dorado and Placer counties for financing of the agency through the current fiscal year.

The breakdown included $30,000 or 50 per cent as the State of California's share, $10,200 or 34 per cent as El Dorado County's share and $4,800 or 16 per cent for Placer County.

Cost figures were accompanied by a formal request that El Dorado County's share be paid on or before Jan. 15

After refusing for six months to pay its share of the financing of the agency, El Dorado County last week said it would pay its legal financial obligation if it is not successful in legislative changes to divest the county of its financial responsibilities to the agency.

British Boat Is Queen

SAN FRANCISCO – a 40-foot British boat carrying a price tage of $115,000 will be queen of the 27th annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show, Jan. 10-19, at the Cow Palace, the first national boat show in the nation for 1969.

The "Ocean Pirate," built by Brooke Marine Ltd., of Lowestoft, England, will be the most expensive craft ever to be exhibited in a boat show.

The yacht, truly a luxury model, is fitted with a deep freeze and other elegant appointments. The hull is a marine grade aluminum alloy with wood superstructure and stainless steel deck equipment. It has a spacious sun deck with handrails, sleeps six persons in three cabins and is offered in five varying standard layouts.

Power for the show model will be provided by twin Cummins V8 300 horsepower diesel engines.

There are 2 1/2 tons of aluminum in the "Ocean Pirate," which will be making its debut on the North American continent during the colorful, 10-day exposition.

Brooke's other division build cargo ships, tankers, naval craft and fishing vessels up to 420 feet.

Augmenting the "Ocean Pirate" will be hundreds of other new-for-'69 boats, from power and sail boats to inflatable boats, canoes, kayaks and other small boats of every variety and price, Everything, too, for water skiing, skin diving, fishing, camping and hunting will be previewed among the more than 500 exhibits filling all available space in the Cow Palace.

In addition, there will be log cabins, sportsmen's planes and many other features at this, the largest exposition of its kind in the west.

Show hours will be 2–11 p.m., daily, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturdays, and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

Physical Occupational Therapy Grants Offered

A limited number of supplemental aid scholarships for physical and occupational therapy students are available from the Kappa Delta Phi sorority and the National Easter Seal Society, it was announced today by Richard W. Rhyno, state executive director of the Nevada Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

In order to be eligible for the funds applicants must be United States citizens enrolled or accepted in a certificate course or in the senior year or clinical training period of a degree course in physical or occupational therapy at a school approved for taining by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association.

Application blanks must be obtained from the Scholarship Coordinator, National Easter Seal Society, 2023 West Ogden Avenue, Chicago, Ill., 60612. "The completed application and all supplemental material must be received at the National Society by May 15, 1969 in order to be considered by the Scholarship Review Committee," Rhyno said.

Car Thieves Busy

NEW YORK—Car thieves have become peskier than ever in recent years, the Insurance Information Institute observes. Since 1949, the number of automobiles registered has more than doubled, but the number stolen has more than quadrupled — from 163,000 to 655,000.

Man-Made Catastrophe

NEW YORK—Most years, the nation's worst catastrophes are the result of windstorms or fire. But in 1967, according to the Insurance Information Institute, the costliest was man-made, generated by the civil disorders in Detroit in July, which caused insurance losses of $41.5 million.

Tree Cutting Control Killed By Nevadans

RENO – Ormsby County commissioners have killed a proposed tree-cutting control ordinance suggested by planner Raymond M. Smith of Reno.

Commissioner Thomas Taylor said the ordinance; which would have prohibited cutting of trees greater than a certain diameter or height without county approval, "won't work in the form which Smith gave it to us. If it works at all it would be in the Lake Tahoe Area."

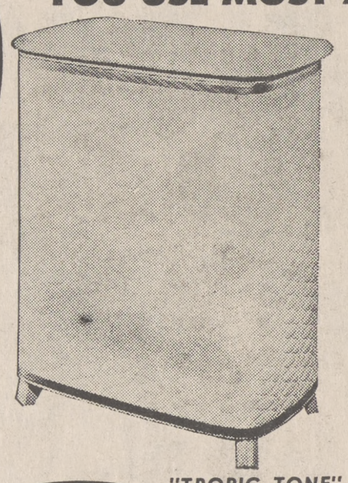

Former forester Jack Christner, speaking from the audience, said there is nothing now to prevent a landowner from cutting down every tree on his property. He said a similar ordinance now is in effect in South Lake Tahoe and has worked well in preventing erosion and unnecessary destruction of trees.

Nevada Employers Get Unemployment Forms

Nevada Employment Security Department is now mailing the Employer Contribution Report form for the fourth quarter of the 1968 calendar year to approximately 11,000 employers subject to the Nevada Employment Security Law, according to G. A. Fletcher, Unemployment Compensation Service administrator.

The form is used by employers to report payments due the Nevada unemployment compensation fund, from which unemployment insurance benefits are paid to qualified workers who become unemployed.

Approximately 5,000 Nevada employers are subject to the federal unemployment tax as well as the state unemployment tax. This group includes employers who hired four or more workers for some part of a day over a period of 20 or more weeks during calendar year 1968.

Fletcher reminded those employers subject to the federal tax that they must pay a higher federal tax rate if they do not make the payments due to the state of Nevada on or before Jan. 31.

To insure full credit for timely payment of their Nevada tax, employers should indicate the identification number assigned to them by the State in the proper space on the federal report form, Fletcher said.

The federal report, which must be filed if credit is to be received, is made on U.S. Treasury Department form 940, available at the nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

Fire Loss Still Climbing

NEW YORK—Fire destroyed $1.7 billion worth of property in the United States in 1967, according to the Insurance Information Institute. The total was $200,000 higher than that recorded in 1966.

Revised Bi-State Pact Set For U.S. Senate

Sen. Alan Bible, D–Nev., will introduce a simplified version of the California–Nevada Lake Tahoe Bi–state compact to the Senate at the beginning of the 1969 congressional session.

The simplified bill, which is being re–introduced to speed approval of the pact to protect Lake Tahoe, is more compatable with the House version, Bible points out.

"This should avoid the need for any delaying Senate–House conference on the final legislation," he said. The Nevada senator added that he could not make any predictions on final ratification of the two–state agreement designed to protect the Lake Tahoe Basin from pollution and disorderly development.

Action to protect the lake and surrounding land is also being taken by two Nevada Republican lawmakers, Sen. Coe Swobe of Reno and Assemblyman Lawrence Jacobsen of Minden.

Coe and Jacobsen, who opposed each other on Lake Tahoe issues in the 1968 session of the Nevada Legislature, said Tuesday they have now joined forces to sponsor a five–point program that will present the following proposals to the 1969 session this month:

– Create an interim Nevada agency with authority for planning and water pollution to operate until the bi–state compact is ratified by Congress.

– Preclude development of any further subdivision, condominium or other major projects in the Tahoe Basin until they can be connected to operating sewer treatment plants which have operating sewer export facilities that meet with all federal, state and local water purity standards.

– Require plans of all subdivisions, and other major projects to be first approved by Nevada Foresty Division on such things as tree cutting, soil erosion, ground cover and watershed management before being presented to the respective county planning commissions and county commissions.

– Extend the right of condemnation for the Lake Tahoe park for 28 months from today, to allow more time for private conservation groups and foundations to attempt to raise the needed money to buy the remainder of the park.

– A joint resolution urging quick congressional ratification of the California–Nevada Tahoe Compact Commission.

"The reason we are doing this is that we feel urgent action is necessary on all five points in order for us to keep from losing ground we gained in the last session," the two said.

Swobe in 1968 sucessfully guided through a bill setting up a master agency with California to control the building and the threat of pollution in the Tahoe Basin. Jacobsen fought unsuccessfully to have the counties retain the major voice in deciding development at the lake.

Vaccination For Mumps Is Advised

Mumps, one of the common communicable diseases, is observed with greatest frequency in young, school–age children, according to Dr. Edward F. Crippen, Nevada health officer. All naturally–acquired mumps infections, including the estimated 30 per cent which are subclinical (not severe enough to be recognized by clinical examination) confer durable immunity, he said.

Live mumps vaccine is prepared in chick embryo cell cultures. Since its introduction approximately one year ago, mumps vaccine has been given to more than 1 million persons without report of significant side reactions clearly attributable to vaccination; physicians are aware of any contradictions. There are few contraindications to its use at this time.

Live mumps vaccine may be used at any age over 12 months. The Nevada Health Division recommends immunizing all susceptable children over one year of age, and adults who have never had the mumps.

It is also recommended that mumps vaccine be separated from other immunization procedures by about one month whenever possible pending further investigation.

Careful surveillance of mumps is important. There is a need to improve reporting of mumps cases and their complications, so as to identify community levels of immunity.

Since the general use of the red measles vaccine, mumps is the leading cause of post infectious encephalitis, as well as causing other severe complications in adults.

The vaccine, "a shot" is obtainable from your physician, Dr. Crippen reported.

Skiing Good At Heavenly, Squaw Areas

Squaw Valley reports five feet of packed powder and three feet of packed powder in the valley. All lifts are operating, including the new cable car, gondola, 17 chair lifts and six platter lifts.

At Heavenly Valley, there are 24–45 inches of packed snow on the California side, skiing rated good to very good.

On the Nevada side, there is 40–45 inch pack, skiing very good and operating on the week–end is the tram, 10 chairlifts, two poma lifts. The Kingsbury parking lot is open, with ticket sales there.

Homes Prime Fire Target

NEW YORK—Although fires in public and industrial buildings frequently are the headline makers, fires in residences cause nearly twice as much damage as fires in any other category of building, reports the Insurance Information Institute.
